“ One of my earliest memories of Richard is from the '60's. I lived in Cleveland, and would visit Richard's cousin, Paul, in Detroit. I remember Richard picking us up in his brand new 1963 Grenadier Red Pontiac convertible. And we rode out to City Airport to watch the airplanes. He always seemed like a straight-up guy. As was said, he will certainly be missed by many.

“ I am proud to call Richard my friend. He "recruited" me almost 20 years ago to assist him ushering the Saturday afternoon Holy Mass at St Cyril and Methodius in Sterling Heights. I started off not knowing much more than how to hold a collection basket. Richard told me not to worry, he would teach me everything. Little did I know at the time his idea of everything included lectoring, being a Eucharistic Minister, occasional parking lot attendant, performing basic janitorial skills, and even one instance of having to remove a bat from the church during the Holy Mass! God calls all of us to service. Richard went way beyond the minimal requirements. He was a dedicated servant and I sure appreciated seeing what he would do to help others. I want to end with an item that not too many may know about. The current church, before it's remodeling, used to have a retractable partition that separated the overflow area from the main church. It would be 5 minutes before mass was to begin and Richard and I would begin to debate weather Fr Ben would want it opened or closed. Richard would be convinced Fr would want it open. No, close it. The next Saturday Richard would keep it closed. Fr would proclaim 3 minutes before mass, open it. I think Richard guessed right once in the approximately 12 years I served alongside him.

You will be sorely missed by many Richard.
