“ My sister and I were different in a lot of ways but we still had that sister bond.

We had a lot of laughs and believe me we could go on and on about nothing

She often said people think we're crazy if they heard us. Well I will miss checking in with her 3 or 4 times a day and laughing about whatever the topic happen to come up.

Nobody could get a flower to grow like she could. She would be available for questions about flowers by friendly passerby's in the neighborhood. she would offer to b abysit flowers so her friends could away and sit with a friend having chemo therapy.

That was my sister she loved her home her gardens her family and life. She was not Ready to leave the excitement of the new great grandchildren to come.

One of the last conversation she said"no one should have to live this way"

Forever your sis.
