“ To the beloved Bassil family,

I am deeply sorrowed. So many years have passed, but thinking of Chris still makes me smile. He has always been a beautiful soul. May you find comfort in one another during this tragic time.

“ Dear Andrea and family,

My thoughts and prayers go to you and your family. Tragedy is misunderstood and makes no sense in our world. I pray the church's belief that a better world we pass into is now his gift and the faith that one day he will join us in a beautiful place will be solice for you.

“ Those that were blessed with the chance to have Chris in their lives, have felt the world stand still, since the day of his accident. Our family is devastated. He had that magnetic personality, and touched the heart of so many. With that thought in mind, we can only be reminded that, when God blew the breath of "life" in him he knew, Chris's journey. What a wonderful man he'd become. No matter what, he always found a way, to make the best out of the hardest task in life and his sense of humor was always there to put a smile on our faces. Chris's faith in God, reminded us to reflect on our own. He will be so greatly missed. We loved him so. Our prayers are with all his family...Just know, Chris can only be seen as a gift from above to all who had the opportunity to meet and know him. Time will eventually heal your hearts, and one day, we will all meet again. You have Our Deepest Sympathy and prayers in your transition of healing. May the Lord be with you all.
