“ George was a wonderful husband and father who loved his new role as a “grandpa”. He often told me how proud he was of his children and how lucky he was to have Diane in his life. And I’ll always remember sitting on the porch with George while he smoked his cigar and we talked about sports, politics and our families. May you Rest In Peace, my friend.

George was a great husband father and grandfather. He also was a good friend to us for many years. He will be deeply missed.
