“ I am one of many grand daughters of Geraldine. My grandmother has always been the rock, the glue to our family, always keeping us in our place, teaching us new things, yes..... even as adults.

Every summer since I was 12 (that I can remember) I stayed with my grandma and grandpa as long as I could before my dad complained that I was gone too long and made me go home. But that didnt always last.... Grandma would drive 45min to pick me back up within a week or Id make it back down somehow. Every day, yes every single day.... Most of the time twice, we were at the corner store buying her mid-day and nightly lotto numbers! Cant wait to find receipts for all those big winners you never told us about. Thanks for passing that habit down by the way. Im always buying tickets, you always told me “can't win if I don't buy them”. My grandma was always the one I could tell anything to, yeah most of the time she would tell the entire family. Especially when i was scared to tell my mom I was pregnant. Grandma helped me tell the family haha. Usually with a first born, a mother would get frustrated and overwhelmed, but grandma was always there to help me through it. Teaching me some tricks she knew and used on my aunts, uncle, and us grandkids. She always took time out of her day for her family, always listened and helped us with anything we needed.

One of the most recent memories, since i live in tennessee, it was couple of years ago, grandma was driving my husband Will and I around and she was so excited about her new Jeep and its features. She was talking about the sirius xm radio.... Well she had on the 60's channel and told me I could change it. I made the joke “its alright grandma, your old, you like the old peoples channel” she was quick on her response and said “ i'm not old, i'm a young chick stuck in old womans body”! Yeah she had me in tears laughing so hard.

I could go on and on about my grandma, I do have 25 years of memories....okay okay, 33 but like i tell her..... im forever 25. Grandma, you were a huge part of all of our lives. One strong willed woman, always held your ground, always kept us in line. Till we meet again so you can finally chase me around instead of waiting for me to come back so you can catch me.....I love you with every beat of my heart, hugs and kisses. Rest in Peace

“ I would like to acknowledge and send my prayers of condolences to the family of Geraldine 'Jeri' Torok. What a wonderful and kind woman she was while working at Kroger. We spoke many times about our families and work. She brought me home one evening in the rain from work because my daughter couldn't come get me. But, Jeri spoke to everyone in a kind way all the time! Thank you Jeri, and you'll certainly be missed!
