“ You were so dear to our hearts that regret fulfils our hearts. How good that we meet in 2019 in Wroclaw, how bad that it was not possible to meet again. We will always truly regret that we had seen each other more often, talked more often, laughed together more often and hugged you more often. Regret, tremendous regret and despair.

Thank you for being in our life. Rest in peace, our Dearest Sister and our Dearest Aunt.

“ We've known Grażynka for over 25 years, but I was not truly knowing her until April this year, when she informed me about her struggle with a serious disease. When she told me about it, I was convinced that Grażynka needed a prayerful support that she could count on my part every day. Now I know that it wasn't exactly like that ... I was the one who needed her support ...

I watched Grażyna's struggle to live for her husband and daughter, I listened to her stories about how wonderful her husband takes care of her and the joy of frequent visits of Martusia. I have never met anyone so devoted to the family and at the same time reconciled with the sentence she received from the doctors. She was in pain, but she was able to enjoy everyday life, at the same time being concern about her immediate family, friends and family in Poland . She kept saying that we should "enjoy life, because what is important today may not be important tomorrow". It seemed to me that I was open to such a view, but it was Grażynka that really made me fully aware of it...

Thank you Grażynka, for your testimony of faith and love - you will be in our prayers forever.

I would very much like to be allowed to be the person as she was. I will miss you!

Zbyszek, Martusiu,

Grażynka is already in a better world. We have a great memory of meeting her in our lives.

“ Mom, you were so beautiful. Today is a really tough day for us, we are both reminiscing about you and your life. We have both laughed and cried looking at all the pictures and going through some of the memories, I pray I always see you smiling like the last time I saw you before you passed. You were so strong even in your toughest moments. I love you mom.

“ To my loving Mother, THE AMAZING GRACE, you will be in our memory and hearts forever & 'til we meet again at the gates of heaven! I love you mom & my heart is forever broken now you had to leave us so soon. All your pain & suffering has finally ended and you can now have eternal peace and love in a much much better place. Please watch over my father and I. Love you.
