“ My Uncle Jim was one of the most fun, generous and loving people in my life. He was much like a second Father when I was young. He visited all the time and shared his passion for Soccer that he picked up in Guatemala when he was teaching there and we shared a love of the James Bond movies. We played Foos Ball since he was a huge hockey fan and he even brought a table top basketball game that was fun. He also helped to foster my love of astrology and the space program since he was a physics teacher. He would buy gifts that matched these shared interests and also got me the best model cars at Christmas. I miss him and am sure that God blessed his soul and he is with his parents, his wife, his sister and my dad and sister and the rest of our extended family in Gods gift of Heaven.
