“ My dad would have and did help everyone who asked him,gave the shirt off his back. He never asked for anything in return and he taught us the same thing. We didn't know of hard times growing up because we were kids and as kids my dad made sure we had fun. I will always cherish the motorcycle rides early Sunday mornings. First to McDonald's then to city airport to watch the planes ✈️ come in and out. Just the two of us 🤗 Then we would go back to Mickey D's as dad called it 😊 and grabbed breakfast for my mom and the rest of the kids at home.

Dad your forever in my heart and soul @💔

“ Here’s just some of the great memories of my dad..tractor pulls at the silver dome, auto shows that he would act like we could buy any car, helping him taking his cowboy boots off after work one at a time as he push me in the butt with his other foot, breakfast(his favorite meal), him sitting on the porch while we climbed the tree, him making chairs in the garage, him smoking his pipe every day all day, always having a pocket knife and a handkerchief (yuk), Easter egg hunts for money, jumping off the couch for New Year’s Eve, water fights with the Furgals.... my life will never be the same
