“ Joan, my sister, was the second of the six of us.

Joan was a little sister to one of us and a big sister to four of us.

But Joan was the first in many ways:

She was the first Boomer in the family.

She was the first to go through Denby.

She was the first to get an undergraduate degree.

She was the first to buy her own car.

She was the first to move out on her own into an apartment.

She was the first to read many good books that were passed among us.

She was my first and last call for grammar questions. A separate, but related thought: Her rule for the use of semi colons was don't.

She was the first to have more than one grand child.

Now Joan is the first of us kids to be missed. And missed sorely by all of your family. By all of your friends.

And Joan, you will be the first to spend eternity with mom and dad. So all I can say is you better remember to wipe your feet.

Joan was a dear friend from our days at Denby. She was smart, fun and a good pal. We reunited at our 40ieth reunion after having gone our separate ways in between. We kept our friendship for the next decade and it was a joy to have her back in my life. I know she loved her family and adored her grandkids. She will be missed. Bev Lieberman
