“ I worked with Olga when I first started at Chase. We had fun making up a celebrity name for ourselves "SOlga" (Susan + Olga). We also had our own funny things we would say to each other like when she would look at me in a serious way and rub her chin and say "how interesting" before busting out laughing. Just a couple of examples of how joyful and fun she was. Being older, she also occasionally reached out to me for advice and I appreciated the fact that she valued what I had to say. When I look at pictures of her, I will always think of her beautiful soul. May she rest in peace.

“Olga and I became fast friends during our time at the University of Michigan. We were a couple years apart and in different programs, but we randomly crossed paths and my life was the better for it. We both moved to Chicago and kept in touch over the years. I knew Olga to be ambitious, adventurous, and compassionate, spreading light and love wherever she went. My heart aches that she’s gone, as the world is less bright without her. She is so dearly missed. Prayers for peace and comfort to her loved ones.

Cheers to you, my sweet friend.

“ I will never forget being overly impressed with Olga during her scholarship interview with Student Mentor Partners when she was just 13 or 14 years old. I said confidently then that she was going to be successful in our program, in high school at Regina, and in life. I was so proud to see the beautiful young woman that she developed into and her accomplishments at the University of Michigan and then in her career at Chase. I remember when Olga reached out to let me know that she was living in Chicago, my home town, and how excited I was to see her. From time to time we'd grab lunch, she supported my annual memorial bbq, and considered me a friend and mentor. I will truly miss her smile, kindness, gentle and caring spirit. And to Tamara and Andrew, my deepest condolences to you as I know this is a tremendous loss for your family. I am saddened, but will forever cherish my memories of Olga.
