“ Dad,

Words can't begin to describe my feelings for you, and for our families loss. You have been the best Dad to me and Rebecca and an amazing grandpa to Alex and Brendan. What makes me the most proud of you is how you were with Mom. You epitomize "in sickness and in health" in your marriage vows. I have so many memories of you growing up, as I became an adult, and as I became a parent. I tried to honor all of the lessons you instilled in me with my boys and I hope I made you proud. I married a man that is exactly like you, all the good, all the bad, no matter- he is wonderful and you taught me what a good father and husband is and I thank you for that. People always tell me I am just like you, that is a compliment that makes me smile ear to ear, it always has. I will miss your crazy sayings like "I'll be a blue nosed gopher", or "I'm so hungry I could eat the ass out of a dead skunk"... only our family gets our crazy humor. Most of all I will miss you just being there for us. No matter what, no matter how you felt that day or what we needed, you were there. I could call you up and complain about something the boys may have done or said and you would listen and tell me to relax, they are good kids. You were always right, yes, I said that. There is no one I know that is like you. Your bark was always worse than your bite, I learned that early on. I always respected your work ethic, your commitment to family, your love for your family, your passion for University of Michigan- by the way you are the picture of a Michigan Man, just saying. I don't think you realize how many people you have touched through the years, your siblings, your nieces and nephews, your grandkids, your own kids, brother in laws, sister in laws, cousins, aunts, uncles, friends, the list is never ending. Just know I am proud you are my Dad and I love how you raised me. The Big House will seem a little smaller now without your presence in its hallowed confines. But in your memory we will continue to honor your values, convictions, and loves.

I love you Dad. You are always on my mind and will be forever in my heart. Please give Grandpa E. and Bryan a hug and kiss for me. Until I see you again....
