“ Share a memory .. I cannot . I can share a journey .. It was a wonderful journey with someone I know I will see again in the next life . 🙏.. I have no words to express the friendship we shared. I have no explanation for how two people could be so close ; maybe two souls helping each other learn on this realm . You ate missed 😭

I met Paul after I began dating Joe. Holy cow! Paul was the handsomest guy and he reminded me of The Beach Boys! Every Sunday Joe & I and "the group" would go to your Mom and Dad's house and hang out. Your Mom was always folding little girl's clothes. Your Dad always had a smile on his face, always happy to be with everyone. If Joe could speak, he would totally agree. Paul stood up in our wedding in 1973. Ahh, those were the best of times. Cherish your sweet memories of your Dad, as we will too. Forever be at peace Paul, as you are forever in our hearts. God bless.

I don't remember when I met Paul but I'm sure we were still in high school.. he was a fun guy to hang with ...I moved away for almost twenty years but he greeted me when I came back like I had never left .. my husband got to know him and liked him as well.. we had a lot of laughs when he redid my bathroom and tiled my kitchen .. such a talented guy .. Rest In Peace Paul .. ❤️
