“ There are so many memories i have of my Dad that ill cherish forever. My favorite being our pizza roll parties. We would watch the Rocky movie series, Steven Segal, Jackie Chan, and Armageddon was his favorite. Neither of us expressed our feeling towards eachother like most father and sons, but when we would watch t.v. together it was our time. To this day i think about him every time my Gf makes fun of me for always wanting to go to the movie theater lol. He would feel great knowing how much me and my brother Justin cared for him and loved him. I will miss his special smile he gave me. Love you Dad forever and always.

“ Bob was not only my husband at one time, he was my best friend. Although that sounds cliché, it was true. We had so much FUN in our time together, travelling, parties, just enjoying life. Bob always had my back and was a wonderful provider to not only myself but our son Robert and his step son Justin. Justin was only 8 when Bob came into our lives and Bob was a true Father to Jus for many years. If anything was broke, Bob could fix it and was an artist in wood being a finished carpenter and when he was only a teenager a deck builder and worked in kitchens around the area. He was an awesome cook!! Bob and I basically grew up together raising our boys and I shared his zest for life and his passions. We built a wonderful home together on Murray. Bob had a knack for flipping houses and was very successful at it. Bob was a member of my family and extended family for 25 yrs. Half of his life was spent with us.... Even when we were divorced Bob was there for me after my total knee surgery and took care of me coming from Georgia to run my household and run me, LOL. He also was right at my side with my cancer surgery going to appts and the hospital and taking care of me after. I didn't have to ask for his help, he loved me and was there for me. Although we moved on and we didn't see each other I just can't imagine my life without him just knowing he's there. I knew he was just a phone call away. Bob will be missed by myself, our son Robert and Justin and all my siblings and extended family. We are hurting so bad but know Bob is with God and we will see him again. Take care of him big brother Lou.

“ Bob was a man full of life and was rarely found sitting down. He was on the go at all times either building a business or building friendships. He was a giver and often took on the task of being his 'brother's keeper' by helping others. His smile and laughter are missed by those he leaves behind but heaven has another carpenter to build that stairway! Bob, may you rest in God's presence and find happiness and peace.
