“ David, Faye and Alice, please accept my condolences on the loss of your mother. Sally really had her hands full when we were younger and the Sunset house was filled with crazy teenagers. Praying that happy memories bring you comfort.

“ RIP Sally, we worked together for so many years. I always loved that English accent of yours. One of my very very fondest memories, is when you went to run an errand one day, and volunteered to pick up lunch for us. When you got back you were a bit frazzled. When we asked what happened the answer you gave I will remember always.

You had gone to the drive thru window of whatever fast food place you were at and when you placed the order for the burgers, you requested. TOE MAT TOES. the girls said HUH? so you repeated it " I want TOE MAT TOES on it". Again the girls said HUH? I don't understand you, so she got angry and said ok fine I want TAMAYTAS TAMAYTAS

My Lord how we all roared at that. Thank you Sally for so many years.
