“ It's so sad to realize my wonderful cousin is gone. How we loved visits from Scott & Rick! (Sorry, Jack, but you were just a baby then; I'm sure you've grown into a great guy!) Scott was easy going and friendly with a quick wit even as a kid. My memories of him are images of Scott smiling that toothy smile of his, and of Rick, Scott, my sister Adele & me laughing and laughing. They were great fun to be with. What a blessing to have them in our lives. Saying prayers for Scott that he rests comfortably with Our Eternal Father -- and that he's having a grand time meeting all those stars in rock 'n' roll heaven.

My sincerest sympathy to Cindy, Christie, & Joe, to Rick & Kim, to Jack & Shawn, and to our beloved Aunt Shirley. Old Faithfully yours and love always, even if from afar.

“OMG...where do I start...I have more "Scotty stories"...than I have time to write....If you hung around Scott for any period of time, then you too, have "Scotty stories".....The man was a walking, talking "Americas Most Funniest Videos"!...I am sure I have forgotten more stories than can I remember, but without trying to be too irreverent, if that's even possible when talking about Scott, I am going to tell you a story of Scott that will give you an insight into the kind of funny, clowning, happy-go-lucky kind of man Scott was. This goes back many years...back to the 90's I am guessing....We are going to a Red Wings game (back then, Scott LOVED the Red Wings) and we are going with a group of people. One of our very good friends, Jerry Morris provided us all with tickets to a suite at Joe Louis Arena.....anyway, we get to park in the "Executive Lot"...enter thru the "Big-Shot" entrance and use the elevator to get to the suite entrance.....let me digress...anyone who knew Scott, knew he was NEVER a guy who tried to be anything other than what he was...never tried to be "upper-class"...never was comfortable in fancy places...very down-to-Earth and just "common folk"....anyway, back to the story...we are all standing at the elevator to take us up to the suite, when the doors open...20 or 25 people cram into the elevator...some wearing suits...some wearing furs...and us "common-folk" wearing our jerseys.....so the elevator doors close and everyone tries to position themselves shoulder to shoulder....crammed in there like sardines...and as soon as the doors close, Scott in a louder-than-normal tone of voice says, "I think I have to fart"! ...well, you might as well have shouted fire!...everyone in the elevator immediately turned to look at Scott!....Of course, Scott didn't need to fart, it was always his way of making people laugh at all the wrong times!...If you haven't figured out who I am, I am Scott's brother-in-law, Paul Ragnoli...I met Scott some 30 years ago when he hired into Milford Fabricating. We became friends instantly, just like all of the other people Scott ever met in his life...."Scotty-gotta-love-him". I have had, not only the pleasure of working with Scott and being around him for many hours of each and every day, but Scott introduced me to my wife Peggy, who just also happened to be his sister-in-law (Cindy's sister)...we eventually got married and we have beautiful children and grandchildren, that would not be here if it wasn't for Scott. So you see, I owe more to Scotty than most and therefore I will miss him more than most. He was much more than a brother-in-law to me, he was my best friend. I will miss him more than I can put into words....The man was a one-of-a-kind person. I have NEVER met anyone like him and I am sure I never will again.....rest in peace my buddy...cant wait to see you again....love "Paulo Alto"

“ To the Hermansen family,

My deepest condolence to the family of Scotty Hermansen. I share a special place in my heart and I always will for Scotty. Scotty and I met years ago at Milford Fabricating Company and instantly became friends for life with many, many laughs and personal conversations. It was there where Scotty took me under his wing and taught me how to operate the lasers. He was so kind and patient with me that I often refer to him as Big Brother. In return I became Baby Brother. If it had not been for him, I wouldn't be the man I am today. I had recently had lunch with Scotty and I'm so glad I was able to make that luncheon. Thank you Scotty. Not just for teaching me the trade, but for simply being my friend. Till we me again , Keith.

“ I played in a band with Scott many years ago. I only saw him about once a year after that, but he was always smiling, happy to be alive, happy just to hang out with family and friends. I'm very sorry I won't have the pleasure of pickin' with him any more, but even more sorry Cindy, for your loss. Much love to you and your family! --Mary (and Tony, who has followed Scott's travails with cancer as he navigates his own)

“ Cindy and family: my memories r not as deep or as long as yours, but the short time I was blessed to know Scott will be a time I'll never forget! He was such a very loving, caring person who loved his family so much! My son Matt and I feel so very thankful and blessed to have been able to have known Scott even though it wasn't as long as we would have wanted! Love and prayers!

“ I feel blessed the day God put Cindy in my life. I trained her to be a teller at the bank. She was always so kind. Then to find out she was married to someone I knew from high school days, Scott. We became friends and hung out at their house often. They were always trying to fix me up with dates. Well, Cindy the hopeless romantic, encouraged a relationship with a bank customer whom I am still married to for 30 years.
Thanks Scott and Cindy for your friendship. Glad we recently reconnected. Will miss you Scott❤️

Scott was always full of smiles and would make anyone comfortable and want to be around him. I am sad that I have not seen him in years, but will NEVER forget him! xoxoxoxo Cindy, you were a very lucky woman to have had him as your partner in life! I am so very sorry for the loss of yet another exceptional person!

I didn't know Scott long but I will always remember him. He was a kind hearted jubilant man. It warmed my heart to see him and Cindy together. What a wonderful couple they made. You could feel their love for each other just approaching them to say "Hi." How fortunate they were to have the time they had with each other. Cindy, please know that I am thinking of you.

“ I've never though I would be writing down my thoughts on a plane discussing how much I'm going to miss my brother but knowing he's in a place with God. Funny how when someone passes away that's so close, you remember the memories growing up like living on Duck Lake...Cindy and Scott are trying to be close to one another and I'm right in the middle with my hand between them trying to stop them from Kissing. Scott didn't even care, well maybe he did but I think he loved it. Memories of spending the night at their house making homemade pizza and Scott would take me to the midnight showings watching the zombie movies then having to go to bed. Scared the bejesus out of me. Or we would go midnight skiing at Mt. Brighton. Another one I can think of is when I was in The Navy and Scott came to visit me. We were getting ready to do sea trials and Scott was able to go on the Aircraft Carrier and go out to sea. He was so excited, while I was working my Senior Chief took him all over that ship, places I've never been, officers galley, met the Captain and etc. That was so much fun for the both of us. Most recent was the trip with both my brothers and family to Solver Lake Sand Dunes. Such a fun time with both my brothers, Scott and Rick would walk down to where we were staying and bring me a snack. Yup that was one of their saying for a tall beer in a bag. We would sit together and have a great time. The many great times as family going to Rick and Kim's house to watch football, NASCAR or the family holidays seeing everyone again hanging with my brothers. My best memory of Scott is how much he loved playing guitar. Growing up and watching him play in a band, jamming in his garage, or breaking out the Martin at the campfires singing and getting everyone involved like my Brother Rick. Those two together singing and playing guitar was always an experience and quite funny I might say. Scott always had a smile on his face and everyone around felt his energy. How could you not enjoy Scott. Fun loving brother, great Husband who cherished his kids and grand kids. Miss you so much my Brother...
